Education should liberate your thoughts.
So did it happen with Rohit Choudhary as he started researching on farmers, farm laws, landscape of the fields.
During the interviews with the traditional farmers and the modern, educated, trained farmers, he found the gap, which then got converted to his thesis topic.
The wisdom he gained from the course of thesis has put him on a new track of administrative exams. He is inspired to make a change at the policy level and do his bit for the society.
Wishing him luck as he embarks on this new journey.

Thesis by:
Sanskriti Gupta

Topic:
Umbrella's Pride
(Empowerment Center for LGBTQ Community)

It's good to belong!
When not accepted by the masses, the tendency will naturally be to create ones own.
Much talked! But really much expected?
They are one amongst us, one from us, but not comfortable to say one of us...
Sanskriti, talked to them, got sensitive to the tormentous times they have gone thru to while coming out of the closet and life after that.
In her architecture thesis, she designed space to Emphatize with the community, a space they can feel belonged to... their safe, happy community hub.

Guide : Prof. (Ar) Richa Garg

Thesis by:
Dhruvi Saran

Topic:
Ameya-The one who is boundless
(Women empowerment centre for kathelia community)

Skewed gender ratio was/is still an issue with many states, Rajasthan being one of them.

Grounds For Reconciliation

Riots leave the social fabric ruffled and torn. Can space stitch this? How?
Piyush was seeking for these answers as he looked at the impact of riots on Ayodhya in particular and the country in general.
Developing built and unbuilt spaces, in all their tangible and untangible characters, that could provide opportunities for the victims and the coming generations to pause and think... are these riots that important? What do we achieve as civilized societies thru these riots that we pass on the coming generation...
